

Photos from the 2021 Linn County 4-H and FFA Fair

Goat showing time.

Olivia Martineau, 18, a member of the Calapooia Critters 4-H club prepares Albert, her 1,275-pound Angus steer for the 4-H and FFA market show Tuesday afternoon.

Volunteer Barbara Castillo sets up the photograph display at the 4-H and FFA fair Tuesday.

Maggie Cervantes, 17, of the Lacombe Livestock Club, fits her sister Paisley's crossbred goat, Otis.

Waiting for judging.

Maggie Cervantes, 17, of the Lacombe Livestock Club, fits her sister Paisley's crossbred goat, Otis.

Fay Sallee, 51 years as a 4-H leader.

Cecilee Faville, 12, of the Goat Lovers and Friends 4-H Club showed her blue ribbon turkey, Papaya, 18 weeks old, during poultry judging Tuesday morning at the 4-H and FFA fair. Events run all day.

Wynter Durham, 11, a member of the Valley Wranglers 4-H Club, works her market pig, Nocho.

Scio FFA member Addison Wessels, 14, washes her heifer Emmy at the Linn County 4-H and FFA fair Monday. The event culminates Saturday afternoon with the annual youth livestock auction. Buyer lunch starts at 11:30 a.m. and the auction fun starts at 1 p.m. Live and online. Learn more at www.lcyla.com.

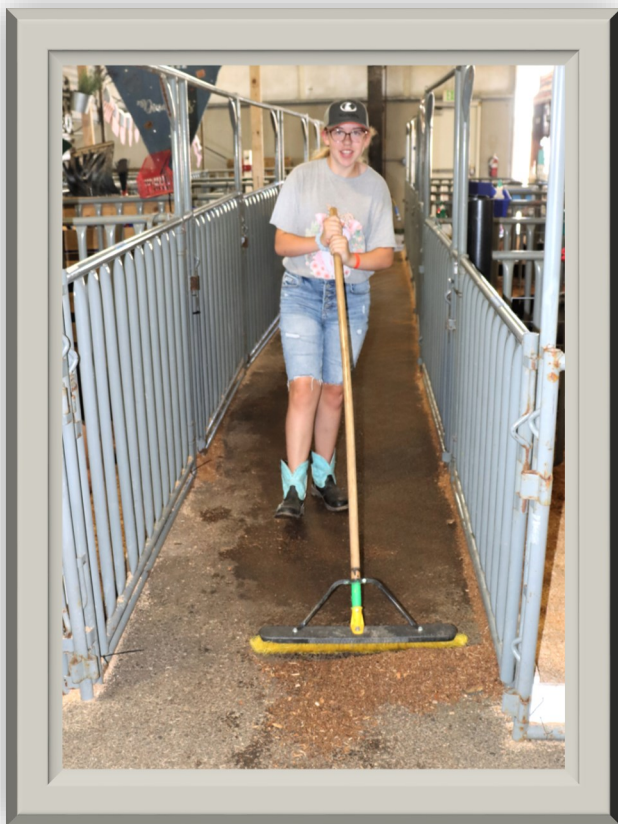

Zion Pimm, 20, of the Muddy Creek 4-H club with his pig, Alex.

Want to see what Linn County's 4-H and FFA kids have been doing with cameras? Come on out to the Linn County Fair & Expo Center and take a peek at the many photos and other artworks on display this week.

Chicken judging.

Trysten Reid, 13, handles herdsmanhip chores for the Valley Wranglers 4-H Club Tuesday at the Linn County 4-H and FFA fair that culminates at 1 p.m. Saturday with the annual livestock auction. Visit www.lcyla.com to learn more.

Anna Haile, 7, enjoyed playing in the sheep barn Tuesday morning at the 4-H and FFA fair. Her three older sisters are members of the All-Star Animals 4-H Club.

Taking a lunch break during vet checking on Monday.